OPENING OF THE NEW US BORDER PATROL STATION IN WHY November 27, 2012

New USBP station in Why is now officially open

An air of formality and satisfaction was the order of the day at the grand opening ceremony for the US Border Patrol station recently completed in Why next to the former station. A panel of government officials and contractor CEOs made speeches and congratulatory remarks to all involved in the massive project.

Known as the Ajo Station, the 54,000-square-foot state-of-the-art facility is set on 30 acres of land south of Ajo. Ajo Station Patrol Agent in Charge Jack Jeffries talked about milestones reached over the years as the original building designed for 25 agents gave way to the new. He pointed out that contractors surpassed the Silver Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design rating they were tasked with, obtaining a Gold rating instead. Solar power will provide 35% of all electrical needs of the station and all of the hot water. Lighting and heating and cooling systems adjust automatically based on occupancy. Natural lighting is employed to reduce the daytime need for artificial lighting. Plumbing fixtures are low flow, the building is super insulated, and landscape plants are low water-use. In addition, the vehicle wash bay recycles wash water, the floor plan is designed for efficiency of movement, and 97% of all construction waste was recycled.

Dignitaries from HDR Inc., the company that designed the facility, and DL Withers, the company that built the facility, received accolades along with representatives from the Army Corps of Engineers and US Customs & Border Protection.

Acting Deputy Chief Patrol Agent Jose Cruz explained that many letters of support for the new station and the efforts of local agents have been received from residents of Ajo. He said the additional resources will make securing the border more of a reality than in the past, adding that agents have taken away the easy ground from illegal immigrants and smugglers and pushed them further into remote desert lands. He said the roughly 500 agents now assigned to the Ajo Station may still not be enough to meet the challenge of transnational crime organizations. He said the layered enforcement strategy is a responsibility shared by all the federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies along the border and the new station will help these agencies work together better. He ended by mentioning a recent article in the Ajo Copper News that featured the accomplishments of two brothers, Jorge Estrada and Jose Aguilar Delgado, who were members of the USBP Explorer program. He said they both are looking at positive career paths, one considering the Marines, and felt the example set by Border Patrol agents involved in the Explorer program surely has had some bearing on the young men's decisions.

On the other side of the concrete parking lot from the facility is a helipad for CBP patrol helicopters. Total cost of the complex is approximqately $28.5 million.

"This amazing station had a 7-year period from design to completion," said Jeffries. "The new facility provides a work environment our agents and everyone can be proud of."

Local Pima County Sheriff's Department deputy Alicia Cartwright teamed up with Sheriff's Auxiliary Volunteers Marvin Kermode, Shirley Schlinkmann, Forrie Burkenbine, Tom Schnell, and Gene O'Meara at last week's Neighborhood Watch meeting in the community center.

Neighborhood Watch meeting included scam awareness

Extra chairs had to be set up last-minute as the Ajo Community Center filled with listeners eager to hear about scams and the Neighborhood Watch program at a meeting on Tuesday, November 27.

Sheriff's Auxiliary Volunteers Lou Sampson and Joyce Webb from Green Valley led off with a presentation on recent scams and how to protect against them.

"If everyone would just shred, hang-up, and delete, there wouldn't be any problems," said Sampson. "But it's hard. The scammers know just how to play a victim's emotions. Don't try to play with them on the phone; they are professionals. Just hang up! It's not in our nature to hang up on people but we have to get over that."

Sampson explained that scammers do research by reading obituaries in newspapers, especially in retirement communities, to get names of extended family members. They can then phone potential victims with the ruse of being a grandson or granddaughter supposedly going to jail for DUI unless a big sum of money is wired fast.

"Just stop and think before you give out any personal information," said Sampson. "Call the grandson or granddaughter in question and see if they really are in South America waiting to go to jail." She added that Microsoft and the IRS never call or e-mail anyone unsolicited, which are other popular scams.

Medical documents, credit card, banking records, and pay stubs should be shredded rather than discarded, noted the Green Valley SAVs. Sampson pointed out that roughly 20% of people over the age of 65 have been victimized by scams. In 2010 alone, more than $2.9 billion left this country due to scams.

"We can't stop the scammers, we can only educate everyone else," said Sampson. "Become a part of the scam squad and spread the word."

Deputy Alicia Cartwright noted that anyone is welcome to call the PCSD Ajo District office at 387-8539 with questions about possible scams.

Russ Hudson, who was in attendance at the meeting, contacted the Ajo Copper News afterward with a story about a scam. He said he didn't realize it when it happened, but while listening to Sampson's story about a Microsoft scam it dawned on him that he, too, was a victim. He said the scammer now had his credit card info, any data they wanted off his computer, and quite possibly even planted a so-called Trojan Horse to continually get new information. He mentioned that the great effort needed to go back and protect his identity would never have been needed if he had just hung up. Never open unknown e-mails and never give credit card info over the phone unsolicited, he advised.

SAVs Forrie Burkenbine, Shirley Schlinkmann, Marvin Kermode, Gene O'Meara, and Tom Schnell talked about the Neighborhood Watch program and how it deters crime. Other SAV programs, most of which are free to the public, were also explained. Local arson issues, abandoned structures, a lack of street lighting, and security cameras were discussed in a question-and-answer session.

One resident who preferred anonymity said there are ATVs and dirt bikes going up and down nearby alleys hauling drugs at all hours of the day, and that working street lights are often broken by these traffickers.

Deputy Cartwright mentioned that anonymous calls may be made to the 88-CRIME hotline at 520-882-7463.

"The people we've met, the friends made, the desert, and more, Ajo has been a life-changing epiphany for us," said Joe. "When and where you least expect it to be, there is a world of opportunity waiting. Shirley and I wish to say that all who opened their trust, their lives, and so many doors to us, have been wonderful! It has been a great ride! With heavy and happy hearts we roll back into the current. Farewell, Vaya Con Dios, Ant'ep'o m-nei."

Bobby Trujillo and Charles Tapp were two of the military veterans honored at the VFW last Sunday. They held the plaque for the third honoree, Luis Ramirez, who was unable to attend.

Born in Tulare, California, in 1933, Trujillo came to Ajo in 1935. In 1947 the American Legion in Ajo sent him to Boys State. He graduated from high school in Ajo in 1952 and was drafted the same year. After training in the Army Corps of Combat Engineers he was deployed to Korea from 1953 to 1955 where he spent the majority of his time repairing helicopters. Trujillo said he met numerous soldiers from Ajo while in Korea. One he never forgot was Bennie Castro, who was sitting in a foxhole surrounded by empty beer cans. Over the years Trujillo has been a member of the ChuChu Club, the Elks, and the VFW. He married in 1957 and has two sons and a grandson who is a Marine.

Ramirez was born in Ajo in 1951 and graduated from high school here in 1969. After working for a time at the San Manuel mine in Green Valley he went into military service in 1976. He attended field medical school at Camp Pendleton and was attached to the Marines for most of his 20-year career. He was stationed on Okinawa and on ships such as USS Juno and USS Mount Vernon. He spent time in Korea, the Philippines, and other parts of the Pacific. He has been a member of the American Legion among other organizations.

Tapp joined the Army in 1963 in Phoenix and was sent to Fort Ord, California, for basic and advanced infantry training. He went to Fort Benning, Georgia, for airborne infantry training in 1964 and was assigned to the 82nd Airborne Division based at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. In 1965 he deployed to the Dominican Republic and was wounded during house-to-house combat in Santo Domingo. He was sent to Vietnam in January 1966 and assigned to the 2nd Airborne Infantry Battalion of the 1st Air Cavalry Division. During an operation in the La Drang Valley, he was wounded and sent to William Beaumont Army Hospital in El Paso, Texas, until his discharge in January 1967. In closing comments at the VFW ceremony, Tapp asked that the veterans on the wall in front of the building and at the cemetery be remembered.

Editor:

Recently there have been some complaints about roosters in town creating a nuisance. That's not a good thing; it can be tough to get along with your neighbors even when they're not directly intruding into your everyday life. Many cities and municipalities across the country have ordinances restricting or prohibiting the keeping of chickens, or in particular, 'cockerel' or 'male fowl,' i.e. roosters.

However, with the emerging urban and local agriculture movement, raising backyard chickens is becoming increasingly popular among gardeners of all types. Some places have actually relaxed their regulations in order to permit chickens, and in some cases a limited number of roosters. On the positive side, chickens provide fresh eggs, meat, a ready source of manure for gardens, bug control in the yard, and aid in composting processes. On the other hand, they can also be associated with smells, flies, noise and, in rare cases, rodents.

Roosters are subject to increased regulation due to noise and aggressive behavior. So why would a backyard chicken-keeper have a rooster? Well, in addition to their fertilization services, they can have the effect of keeping their flock of hens calmer, thereby actually reducing the amount of noise. For this reason the city of Mesa allows ten chickens and one rooster on lots of one half-acre or less. In New York City, no roosters are allowed, but many people in ethnic neighborhoods whose cultures include chicken-raising do keep roosters. Other cities like Oakland, Portland and Seattle (leading municipalities in the urban agriculture scene) have adopted more relaxed chicken ordinances, but do not allow roosters.

So what does this mean for Ajo? During the time the mine was operating, chickens (and gardens) were a rarity, even in Mexican town. Now, however, more people are choosing to keep chickens in our desegregated neighborhoods, and some have decided to keep roosters. This could be seen as a divisive issue, but it is also a great opportunity for Ajo residents to engage in a dialogue about urban agriculture in Ajo and to participate in community building.

Should we simply try to enforce Pima County's current zoning regulations? Or is Ajo different? Can neighbors find a way to agree on what constitutes responsible rooster keeping? As more people are trying to find ways to live sustainably in Ajo, this is an issue that we all need to think and talk about. An overview of chicken issues and links can be found at www.ajocsa.com online.

Chamber unveils updated website

The Ajo District Chamber of Commerce has a new look in its redesigned website, members were told at last week's monthly membership meeting.

Alan Dunstan, the board member chairing the marketing committee, told attendees that the design process had been detailed and careful in its approach, and that while there is content still to be created, the Chamber was pleased to have the website up and running.

The new website includes updates on businesses and the community, and offers a calendar of monthly events and activities, as well as suggestions and information about area points of interest.

The website may be accessed at ajochamber.com online.

CofC member Janet Warren of the Ajo Flower Shop is organizing a mixer to benefit the organization. The mixer event will take place Friday, December 7, at the Ajo Flower Shop, 31 W. Pajaro, from 5-7 p.m., in conjunction with the shop's open house beginning at 3 p.m.

Christmas trees

In pre-Christian Rome, decorated fir trees were used to celebrate the winter solstice. At that same time, a wreath on the door was used to indicate welcome and long life to all who enter.

Tattered and worn flags were replaced with new ones on Monday, December 3, at the Ajo Veterans of Foreign Wars, 1764 Gila Bend Highway, by Belia Espinoza of Woodmen of the World Lodge 93, Ajo, and Carl Betty, commander of the VFW. The Woodmen of the World donated the flags to replace the retired ones in advance of the Friday, December 7, commemoration in remembrance of Pearl Harbor.

AHS begins holiday toy drive

Following up on the success of its recent food drive, the Ajo High School Student Council, led by president Lindsey Leon, announced the beginning of what they hope will become an annual toy donation drive running from now through December 19. The drive is collecting toys costing $10 or less for children up to age 8 including those designed for boys, girls, and non-gender specific. Used toys are acceptable as long as they are in good condition.

Many local businesses will have a drop-off box so that community members can contribute. Also, admission to the home basketball games on Wednesday, December 5, and Thursday, December 6, will be free with the donation of a toy. The toys will be delivered via an Ajo-Gibson Volunteer Fire Department truck to the Plaza on Christmas Eve to be given out at the celebration. The student council will form a new line along with the Rotary Club's treat bags and children waiting to talk to Santa.

Leon, in describing the toy and recent food drive noted, "We are a community and we need to care for each other. This is a small way in which Ajo can take care for its own."

Many listeners attended Susan Kaplan's talk about orphan train riders last Tuesday, November 27, at the library. Kaplan discussed about the history of the trains from 1854 through 1929 and the struggles of over 150,000 children who rode it.

"I chose this career because I believe it is my mission to make a difference and touch the lives of every child that I will meet."

Commenting on life in Ajo she said it is a perfect place to spend quality time with family and friends. She said her family has found inner peace and true happiness here, and the people are friendly and accommodating.

Her hobbies and interests include movie marathons and net surfing. She is married to Felix Monge. Their children are Angelo Felix, 10, and Francein Angela, 7.

Bird count is almost here

A sure sign it's almost Christmas is the annual bird count. The Christmas Bird Count is a National Audubon Society tradition in its 113th year and has occurred annually in Ajo since 1998.

People planning to participate will meet at the refuge on Friday, December 14, at 2 p.m. to go over any questions, discuss who is covering which route, and possibly drive some of the routes.

This year's count day is Saturday, December 15, with volunteers meeting at 7 a.m. at the refuge office. Participants will split up into groups, then each group will cover a pre-determined route within a 15-mile diameter circle encompassing Ajo and part of Cabeza Prieta NWR, recording every bird they see or hear.

Both experienced and neophyte birdwatchers are welcome.

Fruitcake tradition

Fruitcakes were made with alcoholic liquor that raised the spirits, but also kept down mold during times when refrigeration was an unknown luxury.

The cakes were covered with powdered sugar and closed tightly in tins. Some are said to have been enjoyed as long as 25 years later.

The fundraiser yard sale for Claire Bistline and her daughter Erin saw heavy traffic through much of the day last Saturday as people came to look for bargains and help the cause. All money raised will be used toward transportation and treatment costs for the mother-daughter team who are taking care of each other after both were recently diagnosed with agressive HER2/neu-positive breast cancer. Claire and her husband Terry Gonzales are full-time Ajo residents and established artists.

"A great cross-section of the community came out, not just friends of Claire's," said organizer Dar Ruef. "There were many people we've never seen before. A lot of folks just wrote checks even if they didn't buy anything. One man bought $50 in yard sale items and wrote a check for $250." Ruef added that a number of women wrote checks for significantly more than the purchase because they themselves were breast cancer survivors.

Those staffing the checkout register noted that everyone seemed delighted with their purchase and many buyers commented that everything was a bargain. A half-off sale ensued in the afternoon. Unsold items went to the Kaity's Way charity.

"We were all extremely happy with the turnout," said Ruef. "It's gratifying to know there's this kind of community spirit here."

This season is a good time of year to fill up on goodies, and the National Bank of Arizona showed its holiday spirit on Monday, December 3. A bake sale was held and 155 raffle tickets were sold for a gift basket with a Kindle Fire and a few other goodies. Picking the winner was (from right) Kelly Moore, Carol Klinefelter, Lisa Rossi and Daisy Farmer. Proceeds from the event will help pay for the Christmas Eve celebration in the Plaza.

Ajo Community Golf Course GOLF

by Liz Baca

Famous golfer Tommy Armour once quipped: "Golf is an awkward set of bodily contortions designed to produce a graceful result." If you know anything about the game, you realize that statement is right on. With so many things to remember and do at the same time, the basic golf swing can get rather clumsy at times. This last week at the Ajo Community Golf Course, there were some very smooth swings and some really strange and awkward ones going on with the following results:

On Monday November 26, ten players showed up for the Men's Skins game with these five making skins: Bill Conley, Frank Milene, Bill King, Marty McCrystal and Mike Sheridan. The clumsy men could not recall on which holes who did what, so there you have it.

Meanwhile, back at the clubhouse, Marty was caught writhing in some interesting bodily contortions while he was attempting to give his smooth partner in crime Bill Conley a few break dancing lessons. They were definitely "busting a move". Now we all know why Marty's back is always going out; it has nothing to do with his less than graceful golf swing! Ouch.

In Men's Club play, Mike Zozaya was the top dog last Tuesday, November 27, with his score of 64; nipping at his heels was persistent Tony McGarry at 65 while the ever-talented George Steckel shot a 68 for third place. The men reported two chip-in shots; one from Paul Barnhart on hole seven; Greg Burton sunk two, on holes #2 and #7.

Twelve couples hit the front nine on Couples Day and Bill & Paula Doremus were on a roll again last Wednesday, November 28, as they came in first place for the third week in a row to have the honors of running the game again next Wednesday. Ira & Patty Taylor were close behind with a 28.4 for second while Joe & Bea Trueba claimed third with their even 29, and Frank Milene & Carol Peek teamed up for a fourth-place win.

Sunny skies and no wind brought out 36 graceful players for Friday's Pro-Am game November 30th. There was a four-way tie for fourth place and it all shook out like this:

Fourth place: Captain Mike Sheridan, George Steckel, Roy Johnson, and Bea Trueba. Third place: Captain Tony McGarry, Patty Taylor, Joe Gonzales, and Rich Meunier. Second place: Captain Bill Doremus, Win Tweedie, Harley Murray and Yvonne Burton. First place: Captain Billy King, Ira Taylor, Paula Doremus and infamous putter Bill Parker.

Ajo Community Golf is open to the public seven days a week. For more information on the new bar hours, new menu, new membership options, and new dinner specials, see ajogolf.com or call 520-387-5011. See you on the dance floor!

Icons

Iconography is a system for representing Christian subjects by means of pictures or images.

The term originally applied to panels portraying the figure of Christ, the Madonna, a saint, or some scene from the Bible. In the Greek Orthodox Church an icon was a movable religious painting.

The term more often refers to any wall painting, mosaic, or portable religious artwork.

Raiders: 1 bad, 1 better

by Robert Sorrels

Gila Bend 71, Ajo 16

The Monsters put a notch up in this rivalry last Tuesday as they hammered the Raider basketball team in front of a roaring home crowd. Gila Bend opened with a blazing 22-2 1st. It seemed like everything they threw at the basket dropped. Ajo, however, couldn't buy a bucket if they had a billion dollars. Even though they penetrated fairly well, nothing would go. Gila Bend continued hot as they led 42-7 at the half.

The Raiders kept running their attack and man-to-man defense, but the taller and generally quicker Monsters repeatedly broke the press making easy points. Gila Bend's big post, Pancho Dutienez, hung out in the paint, racking up 24 points mostly on lay ups and tip ins.

In the 3rd, Ajo tried to generate offense as they scored 7, but were down 61-14 at the 4th. Gila Bend - with a 50-point lead - kept its starters in and pounded away till the final bell.

Coach Brian English shook his head. "Let 'em run up the score. We've got a lot of freshmen on this team. We won't forget." Overall the Raiders never gave up and always came out to meet the Monsters, but for this night anyway, it was all Gila Bend. Darren Rendon had 5 and Billy Glass 4 to lead Ajo.

Eloy 41, Ajo 25

The following night the Raiders made the 3-hour drive to play Eloy. The first quarter was tight as Eloy eked out an 8-5 lead. Ajo played excellent defense and while their shots weren't dropping well they actually had their first lead of the season. Led by their excellent center, Eloy blew the score up to 25-9 by the half and it looked as if Ajo was facing another brutal loss.

The second half was fought dead-even as each team scored 16 though Eloy led 35-17 at the end of three. For the next 6-plus minutes, Ajo played excellent ball, holding Eloy scoreless while Felix Corona - who had been big all night - dropped 3 free throws, made a beautiful drive in heavy traffic, and hit a perfect three. Suddenly it was a 10-point game, so Eloy inserted its big center who promptly made 4 points close in and fed a rebound for another as Eloy scored 6 in the last minute to pull away.

Corona finished with 12 on an excellent effort and Josiah Nez backed him up with 4. It was clearly the best Raider effort of the season and suggests that this young team is learning its way.

Red-nosed reindeer

Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer was originally named Rollo. Montgomery Ward employee Robert May wrote the poem as part of an advertising campaign. His daughter came up with the new name when the company didn't like Rollo and wanted it changed.

The poem was put to music by Gene Autry in 1949 and has become the second most popular song of the season. The first is Bing Crosby's White Christmas.

Other popular secular songs include Jingle Bells, Frosty the Snowman, & Winter Wonderland.

Lady Raiders dropped 2

by Robert Sorrels

Gila Bend 36, Ajo 12

A young Lady Raider basketball team fell to Gila Bend last Tuesday. Ajo played determined defense as they fought for every possession. The shorter Ajo team was out- rebounded 2-1, giving the Monsters second and third shots.

Ajo's offense was hesitant as the Ladies were clearly working out their plays. Still they shot reasonably well in the first half trailing 19-10 at the break. Their shooting went stone cold in the 2nd as they scored only once late in the 4th quarter. A number of excellent shoots rattled around in the basket but wouldn't drop.

Officiating for all three games that night was inconsistent as the referees vacillated between calling the games extremely tight and just letting them play. Ajo was hit with twice as many shooting fouls as Gila Bend. Fortunately the Monsters made only 3 of 10, thus fouls didn't play a major role.

Mariah Gilmartin led the Raiders with 5 while Shanoa Noriega coming off the bench had 4. Jasmine Macias and Lindsey Leon accounted for the rest of the scoring.

Eloy 62, Ajo 20

A tall, talented Eloy team led by forward Brandy Braxten's 24 points schooled the Lady Raiders in up-tempo basketball and tenacious trapping defense last Wednesday. Eloy led 14-3 by the end of the 1st and 31-9 at the half. Ajo's inexperience was displayed as they came up court. The players would briefly lose focus on the ball as they rehearsed the play they were about to execute. The quick-handed Eloy defense repeatedly stole the ball and generated many of their points on fast breaks.

The obviously frustrated Lady Raiders never quit and kept trying to work inside but rarely could penetrate Eloy's trapping defense. This led them to attempt a number of 3-point shots.

On the positive side, Ajo recorded its highest total of the season as 7 players scored. Charlie Harper, coming off the bench, led the Raiders along with Jasmine Macias. Each scored 4.

Coach Brad Harvey had praise for his bench as, in addition to Charlie Harper, Ivana Arizqueta Saavedra and Shanoa Noriega both provided scoring and defense. Harvey also praised Baylee Harper for "Doing the dirty work that had to be done, particularly in trying to guard Eloy's Braxten."
