Sonoyta mud turtle proposed for endangered species protection

The US Fish and Wildlife Service is proposing to provide the Sonoyta mud turtle, which is found at Quitoquito, with the protections of the Endangered Species Act. The USFWS made a status assessment of the Sonoyta mud turtle's current and future condition to arrive at a proposed determination that the subspecies is in danger of extinction throughout its range on the US-Mexico border. A 60-day public comment period will begin with publication of the proposal in the Federal Register last week.

The Sonoyta mud turtle is a less than six-inch aquatic turtle with an olive brown to dark brown upper shell (carapace) and a hinged lower shell (plastron). Long barbels (whisker-like organs) are typically present on the chin, and its feet are webbed. The subspecies is closely related to the more populous and widely distributed Sonora mud turtle.

The Sonoyta mud turtle is an isolated subspecies, localized in the Rio Sonoyta basin in Arizona and Sonora, Mexico – an extremely arid environment. Sonoyta mud turtles require aquatic habitat to survive, but use rare, permanently wetted riparian habitat for nesting, moving between intermittent sources of water, and estivating during drought. Today, there are five known remaining populations of Sonoyta mud turtle – one in the US on the Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument in Arizona and four in Sonora, Mexico. These populations occupy less than 20 percent of the subspecies' historical range.

"Our scientific assessment of the Sonoyta mud turtle and the threats it faces clearly indicate that it is in danger of extinction," said Steve Spangle, USFWS's Arizona Field Supervisor. "Protecting it as an endangered species would marshal increased attention and the resources needed by our US and Mexican conservation partners to improve and expand its dwindling habitat and populations."

The most significant stressors for the Sonoyta mud turtle are the loss of aquatic and riparian habitat related to agricultural and municipal groundwater pumping, and long-term drought. Groundwater pumping and drought affect the amount of surface water and subsurface moisture available for the Sonoyta mud turtle. Reductions in riparian habitat further decrease subsurface moisture, due to loss of shade, needed for nesting sites and drought refuge for hatchlings, juvenile and adult turtles. Reduction in aquatic habitat also affects the invertebrate prey and space available for mud turtles. Much of the aquatic habitat in Mexico's Sonoyta basin is currently supplied by human waste-water effluent, resulting in water quality and permanency concerns.

The only US population is at Quitobaquito Springs on the Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument and is the most resilient of the populations. National Park Service staff continue to implement actions to stabilize the water levels in the pond at Quitobaquito Springs. The inter-agency Quitobaquito Rio Sonoyta Work Group is currently maximizing conservation actions for this population in the US, as well as other populations in Mexico. This group includes the National Park Service, Arizona Game and Fish Department, private citizens, and USFWS. Members of the group participated in developing the species status assessment.

USFWS will accept comments received or postmarked by or before November 21, 2016. For more information on the species status assessment, images, other information about the Sonoyta mud turtle, the endangered listing proposal, what to comment on, or how to submit comments, see the Federal Register notice on the USFWS web site at www.fws.gov/southwest/es/arizona.

Birthdays in Heaven
decorations of gold
Where the years come and go and you never grow old.
Where you celebrate with angels and past family there
With no illness in sight
just love everywhere.
So I don't need to worry
how your Birthday was spent
'Cause you're safe in Heaven and my wishes are sent.
Though I know you are safe
even though you're away
we love and miss you
A little more today

Forever loved,
Your Family

Soccer has officially begun and Tawnie Reid, Elizabeth Sandoval, Kenneth Mailo, Gabriel Cooper, Gracey Ramirez, Lila Range, and Michael Loeb are ready to play. Pima County Natural Resources, Parks and Recreation held their annual soccer clinic last Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. at Walker Park. “We had 50 kids and 27 parents show up for the event. We have a total of seven teams,” said Karen McDonald. “This season we have Lily Williams and Libby Ramirez coaching the 4-5-year-old teams, Rachael Hammock, Eric Loeb, and Sarah Lewis coaching the 6-8-year-old teams, and PCNRPR staffer Corina Mendez coaching the two 9-10-year-old teams. If you would like to come out and cheer on the teams or volunteer during games, please do so.” Games are at 4 p.m. on Tuesdays at Walker Park.

Passport applications will be taken at courthouse

If you’ve been thinking about getting a passport or passport card, or renewing one, you will be able to start the process in Ajo rather than make a 250+ mile round-trip journey to Tucson or Yuma, beginning Tuesday, October 4.

United States citizens may apply for or renew their passports at the Ajo Justice Court, and the $25 acceptance fee will be waived for the first five to do so October 4. Court house staffer Vianka Mariscal is the primary contact person who will be able to respond to inquiries and assist in processing the applications and renewals.

“We’re excited to be able to add this service as a resource to the community,” said Judge John Peck. “The nearest acceptance facility right now is in Yuma, 157 miles west of Ajo, or Tucson, 130 miles to the east. The court is located 43 miles north of the Lukeville Port of Entry on Arizona Highway 85, a major border-crossing point to and from Puerto Peñasco (Rocky Point) in Mexico. We will be able to process applications for passport books and cards for adults and minors, provide required photographs, and arrange expedited processing, delivery, and file searches.”

Completed applications will be sent to the Western Passport Center for review and return of the requested documents.

Deborah Posey, customer-service manager for the Western Passport Center, will be at Ajo Justice Court on October 4th to help with the opening of the courthouse center. Posey said that Ajo’s passport station will be a service to the local community, members of the Tohono O’odham Nation who live closer to Ajo than to Tucson, any U.S. citizens living or traveling through western Arizona, including winter visitors, Border Patrol officers and Customs agents and their families who live and work in the area, or US citizens who are in Sonoyta and Puerto Peñasco.

Karla Noriega, duty watch commander at the Lukeville Port of Entry, noted that the availability of a passport-application point in Ajo would be a convenient alternative to telling travelers they must go to Tucson or Yuma to set the process in motion. Noriega added that between January and December 2015, more than 720,000 travelers in nearly 350,000 vehicles passed through the Lukeville station.

Application and acceptance fees vary, depending on whether the document sought is a new application, a renewal, passport book and/or card, and time-expediency services. The fee for the required set of photographs per application will be $10.

The new service will be available during courthouse hours, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays excluding posted holidays. Appointments for photos are suggested, and further information is available by contacting Vianka Mariscal at (520) 387-7684.

A new school year started with new teachers on staff

This year the Ajo Unified School District welcomed eight new teachers in art, music, math, and special education. Here are four of them.

Carolyn Krueger is the new band director and the general music teacher for all students from prekindergarten through grade twelve (AUSD students begin playing instruments in the fourth grade).

She graduated from Concordia University of Wisconsin in 2002 with a BA degree and has taught music for more than 18 years.

Kruegar, whose goal is to bring back a student marching band to AUSD, says this about why she teaches music: "I chose this profession because of my 4th grade music teacher. I wanted to be just like her. Also, my high school band director played a large part of my becoming a music teacher."

She finds the town of Ajo intriguing. "It is a mining town that has refused to die in spite of the mine closing." She says. "I see a town on the verge of blossoming in the middle of the desert."

Kruegar says she is proud to be a teacher at Ajo Unified School District and proud of their "A" rating from the state of Arizona, adding "I know how hard it is to achieve that rating. Go Red Raiders!"

The Ajo school band directed by Kruegar will perform in concert this December.

Emily Meskauskas teaches sixth grade math classes and STEM classes in sixth grade through eighth grade. STEM which stands for Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics, are classes designed to improve students' competitiveness in specifically those areas.

Meskauskas graduated with a degree in elementary education from Western Michigan University and has taught sixth grade math and science in Littleton Elementary School District in Avondale.

She plans to work with the AUSD students to design and engineer something that would benefit the gardens and our community.

About living in the small town of Ajo, Meskauskas says that she loves her short commute to work. Her other interests include reading, running, road trips, and playing the viola.

Michael McMullen teaches visual arts in all grades, prekindergarten through twelfth. He holds B.A. degrees from Cambridge University in studio art, secondary education, and ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages), and has extensive experience including over 23 years teaching in the US, the UAE and Turkey, as well as teaching and volunteering in the UK and the Netherlands.

His goal is to encourage students to learn to enjoy working at something they love. He says he teaches because he likes sharing knowledge and learning new things.

McMullen says of working in Ajo, "It's amazing and beautiful" adding that the temperature here is actually not as high as in other places he has worked.

McMullen plays guitar, and enjoys desert hiking, biking, and RTV riding.

Alissa Guisado teaches kindergarten, and has a Bachelor's degree in elementary education with a major in special education. Her goal is to become certified as an expert in early childhood education and the education of students with special needs.

Her previous experience is as a kindergarten and elementary school teacher, and she says she chose this career because of her strong passion for teaching children.

Community choir and band will begin practices

In spite of the loss of Susan Spitzer, who directed the Ajo Community Christmas Concert for 36 years, the tradition will go on. Practices for the annual Christmas Concert will begin on Tuesday, October 4, for both the community choir and band.

The Ajo Community Choir will practice Tuesdays at 5:30 p.m. at the LDS Church, 801 N. Cedar Street. Spitzer's daughter, Sarah Spitzer, will direct. Holly Wilson will accompany on the piano. The community choir draws singers from across the community. "Feel free to come and sing with us," said Ray Spitzer. "This year's concert will celebrate the Christmas spirit Susan brought to Ajo each year. All the songs will be ones that have been done in previous concerts."

The Ajo Community Band will practice Tuesdays at 7 p.m. at the Ajo High School band room. The band director, Carolyn Krueger, will direct. "If you play a band instrument please come join the community band," said Spitzer.

The concert will be presented December 4 & 5 at the Ajo Federated Church.

48 bikes arrived in Ajo in healthy partnership

A partnership meant to increase activity levels and prevent chronic disease brought 48 bikes to Ajo on Tuesday, September 20.

Ajo Middle School will receive 36 of the bikes. Funding for those bikes, repair equipment and supplies comes the federal Transportation Alternatives Program funds and Pima County funds. A few weeks ago, the team also delivered 600 helmets to the school.

Another dozen bikes, repair equipment, and supplies will go to Bike Ajo, based at Desert Senita Community Health Center, through a Plan4Health grant overseen by Martha Moore-Monroy, principal investigator and program manager at the Mel & Enid Zuckerman College of Public Health. The grant is part of the Plan4Health program run out of the Arizona Planning Association, which supports the project with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. She and Matthew Zoll, director of Pima County's Bicycle and Pedestrian Program, and Elaine Marriolle, a county bike ambassador, are delivering the bikes.

The Bike Ajo partnership has a goal to build a sustainable cycling hub that educates, trains, provides resources and builds health-based partnerships with the Ajo community. The coalition is working to build a community cycling center that embraces cycling for transportation, recreation and as an economic driver for the region.

The donation effort builds on a 10-year relationship between Pima County's Bicycle and Pedestrian Program and the University of Arizona Mel and Enid Zuckerman College of Public Health. Other primary partners are the American Planning Association, the Arizona Planning Association, the UofA Department of Mexican American Studies and Desert Senita Community Health Center

Additional partners are Pima County Natural Resources, Parks and Recreation; International Sonoran Desert Alliance; Creative Narrations; Pima County Public Library; Ajo Unified School District; Ajo District Chamber of Commerce; Southeast Arizona Area Health Education Center; and Organ Pipe National Monument, Ajo CSA, Authentically Ajo Farmers Market, and the Ajo Copper News. Newspaper publisher H.J. "Hop" David drew and donated the Bike Ajo logo, according to Lily Williams.

For more information, contact Williams at Desert Senita Community Health Center, 387-5651 extension 5595.

Cyclists to learn bike safety in free classes

With the arrival in town last Tuesday of bicycles to help promote cycling in Ajo, Bike Ajo has announced there will be free bike safety classes offered this weekend, Friday, Sept. 30 and Saturday, Oct. 1. Friday's class goes from 5 to 7:30 p.m., and the Saturday class is 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The course is titled, "The Confident and Capable Cyclist", and will help cyclists gain a full understanding of how to safely operate a bicycle in a variety of situations. In addition to learning how to perform a quick safety check, and fix a flat, participants will go for a ride and practice bike safety skills. This class is recommended for adults and youth ages 16 and up; 13-15 with a parent.

People should bring their own bike in good working order, if they have one, and an approved bike helmet. Bike Ajo will also have bikes available for use in the workshop. Two free items will be given out upon completion of both days.

To register, call Lily with the Desert Senita Community Health Center at 387-5651 ext. 5595.

One of Ajo’s landmarks is Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, shown here in the morning with shadows of Plaza palms creating a show on the white walls. Though the parish is celebrating its centennial in November, the building was started in 1924. The Ajo Federated Church as built a few years later.

Farmer’s market will be back next week

“Our Authentically Ajo Farmers Market will literally begin its fall season with a splash”, says market manager Mimi Phillip. “We are excited for our kids and adults alike that our Ajo/Gibson Volunteer Fire Department will join us on Thursday, October 6, in the Plaza from 4 to 7 p.m. to provide a water slip and slide for all ages at our grand opening! Combine that with fresh veggies, yummy food, artesanía, and music and you have quite a family event!”

Phillips says this year’s market has almost doubled in size with plans for every Saturday and every Thursday (see ad in this issue).

The Authentically Ajo Farmers Market, starting as a small table stand about five years ago, promotes “Buy Local, Eat Local” and provides locally grown vegetables, fruits, and eggs, locally produced foods and locally created artesanía and body products.

The market is a project of the Ajo Center for Sustainable Agriculture. Phillips says the market highlights the best of Ajo. “Its goal embraces a broader agricultural movement whose mission is to raise awareness, educate, and involve community members in the more nutritious, healthier lifestyle that is possible to achieve while living in our community of Ajo. Ajo farming produces nutritious, 100% organic food almost 12 months a year.”

“Visit our farm and hen house on Orilla any time! The gate is always unlocked! Just make sure to latch the gate behind you so the javelina don’t feast on our crops,” says Nina Sajovic, director of the Ajo CSA.

“Jane Canon, director of the Ajo Community Garden Consortium located on N. Cameron will tell you the very same thing. Her enthusiasm may coax you into renting, for a very small fee, a personal garden plot there if you don’t have space at your own home. And, Gayle and Don Weyers of the Loma Bonita Garden and Orchard are willing hosts, as well, on their large garden properties on Esperanza. Even our Ajo youth are hosting events at their EASY garden on the Ajo Unified School District campus. Their garden produces organic vegetables for the school cafeteria. Many additional family gardens are springing up all over town in response to the education provided by the Ajo Center for Sustainable Agriculture,” said Phillips.

For a tiny annual fee, community members can join the Ajo

Gardeners Network, which provides free seeds, seedlings and compost many times a year for backyard gardeners. In addition they hold workshops and tutorials to educate those interested in learning.

Big win for Raiders at Homecoming

By Robert Sorrels

The Red Raiders capped off a week of festivities by smashing Madison Highlands in the Homecoming football game last Friday.

Ajo 46, Madison Highlands 8

“Coaching!” said one knowledgeable observer. “Coaching.” It seemed a reasonable assessment. At nearly every position the Highland Heat was bigger. Their quarterback was good as were their backs. Yet Ajo destroyed them.

The Raiders controlled the game striking early on a Caide McLean 28-yard kickoff return. The first play from scrimmage showed quarterback Jacob Lewis came to play hitting Julian Almeida for 34 yards. The Raider line shoved Highlands hard right, and Lewis strolled in for the TD. The conversion was good.

Ajo went with the onside kick that the Heat covered. The defense (playing well all night) stuffed them four straight. Ajo, at mid-field, took six plays to score, but failed to convert. The 2nd quarter added two touchdowns including a 23-yard Lewis to Juan Herrera TD pass.

Coach Lonnie Guthrie began inserting his reserves that, after several nice plays, fumbled at midfield. Highland scored on a quarterback scamper and converted. Halftime, 26-8.

After a long halftime break to celebrate Homecoming, Ajo kept rolling, notching two touchdowns in the 3rd. Perhaps the most exciting play of the game came on an Almeida interception for a 55-yard TD. Ajo was called for blocking in the back nullifying it. (On the other side, Madison was called for eight personal fouls losing over 100 yards).

Undaunted, the Raiders ate up the clock marching 48 yards for another TD. The 3rd ended 40-8.

Ajo’s reserves gained valuable playing time in the 4th. The Raiders showed good sportsmanship by not running up the score.

In a scintillating play, lineman Esai Robles and linebacker Juan Herrera hammered the Heat quarterback at the 32 producing a fumble. Freshman Antonio Curiel snatched up the ball streaking for the touchdown. One assistant coach murmured, “That would have been an ESPN highlight play.”

Overall the Raiders - including the younger ones - played well. In particular, they made few ball handling mistakes. Unfortunately, Ajo can’t seem to convert the PAT going 2 for 7.

The line dominated. McLain had the night of his Raider career with nine carries for 93 yards and two touchdowns plus a 25-yard reception for his third. Almeida continued his quickness with 80+ yards and a touchdown. Lewis had nearly 300 yards in the air, scoring twice. While much improved, Raider receivers continued to have slippery fingers dropping several perfect passes.

On defense, Highland was held under 200 yards and a touchdown. Ajo intercepted twice, recovered two fumbles, plus snuffed the Heat five times on downs.

All in all, it was a great Homecoming.

Lady Raiders split two tough games

By Robert Sorrels

The Lady Raiders rolled to victory on Pan American Tuesday, but lost a hard match Friday to Madison Highland’s powerful team.

Ajo 3, Pan American 1

The Ladies hammered the Pan American Rattlers in the 1st set 25-15. Playing near error-free ball they collected seven kills and a pair of aces. The 2nd set was like the first with Ajo out in front 25-16. Again errors were down, and Ajo dominated the net.

Ajo’s intensity lessened with more mistakes in the 3rd. The Rattlers won 25-19. Play was tight till the Ladies lost focus.

The 4th set was a battle as the Rattlers had their back against the wall. Ajo racked up seven kills but had the same number of service errors keeping Pan Am in the game. Still the Rattlers played their best as the score went neck and neck. Ajo pulled ahead 21-19 and though Pan Am tried, the Ladies went on a run to put the set and match away at 25-21.

Ajo had season high kills, but with 20 service errors they gave up a lot of points. Overall Mikayla Tapp and Chelo Abril showed steady, solid play. Zamantha Robles had near perfect service with only three errors.

The match demonstrated again the on and off nature of this team. Coach Ticha Mancilla’s summary was familiar. She also wondered how they could go from good to sleep walking.

Madison Highland 3, Ajo 0

The Madison Heat rolled into Ajo with a 7-0 record. They had the tallest front line Ajo has ever faced. Averaging well over 6 feet, they controlled play at the net. All three games featured long service runs and fierce play.

The Heat won the 1st set 25-17. They held the lead throughout closing with three straight kills. In the 2nd set, Ajo took an early lead at 11-9. Madison tied at 11-all. The battle was even at 16-all when Robles led a four-straight run putting the Ladies so close at 21-16.

The Heat’s server, powerfully assisted by her front line, put up seven to 23-21. Tapp got two back, but Madison closed it out, 25-23.

The 3rd was incomprehensible. Ajo roared out to a 20-10 lead and had the game in hand. Then . . . no one knows. Madison’s #4 once again, with plenty of help from Ajo handling errors, ran off 13 straight. It was as if the Ladies simply weren’t there.

At 24-20 Tapp, who had led an early 11-point run, got one back, but Madison’s front line put it away taking set and match, 25-21. The crowd wandered off shaking their heads not quite believing what they’d just seen.

The stats weren’t pretty. Ajo had eight errors on kill attempts (with no points), nine service errors, and an incredible 36 service reception errors. With mistakes like that, it’s amazing the match was even close.

PCNRPR courts will close for resurfacing

The tennis courts on Well Road and the basketball and volleyball courts at Walker Park will be closed for public use for approximately three weeks for court resurfacing, according to park manager Merrill Meadows.

The time frame is tentatively scheduled for Monday, October 3, to Monday, October 24.

“We regret any inconvenience this may cause you but we look forward to the improved court surfaces!” said Meadows.

DSCHC hopes to inspire future professionals

This week a newly formed club meets for the first time on the Ajo school campus. It is a club devoted to the prospect of inspiring Ajo high school students to become doctors, nurses, pharmacists, or other health related professionals.

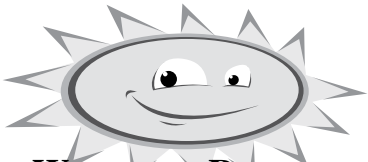

Called the Future Health Care Leaders Club, this new organization is a project of the Desert Senita Community Health Center and aims to build a bridge between Ajo High School students and future careers in health care.

The geographic and economic isolation of small, rural communities like Ajo can create both a shortage of health care professionals and a lack of role models for young people who may be interested in pursuing medicine as a future career. These are issues the Future Health Care Leaders Club aims at addressing.

The club, whose first meeting is Wednesday of this week, is a partnership between the health center and the Southeast Arizona Health Education Center, and is open to high school students in Ajo. It is designed to introduce young people to the potential of working in the health care industry.

Plans for the club include help with academic preparation, guest speakers, tours of colleges, financial aid advice, help with academic applications, diabetes prevention education, and work on projects to develop public health in the local community.

The club meets after school on the AUDS campus. Students or parents can get more information by contacting the school at 520-387-7601, or Lily Williams at Desert Senita Community Health Center at 520-387-5651 ext. 5595.
