Elsie Lumley

Elsie M. Lumley, 105, died with family by her side on Friday, October 26, 2012, at her residence at Courtyard Towers Senior Living Center in Mesa.

She was born in Gardiner, New Mexico, on March 13, 1907, a first-generation American of immigrant parents from Pacentro, Italy. The fourth in a family of six — three brothers and two sisters — she outlived all of them.

The family moved to Dawson, New Mexico, where she met and married her husband, Richard O. Lumley. The family lived in Dawson until 1950 when they moved for a short period of time to Trinidad, Colorado. From Trinidad the family relocated to Ajo, where Mr. Lumley worked for Phelps Dodge until his death in 1961.

Many will remember Mrs. Lumley for the time she worked in the Phelps Dodge Mercantile women's and baby department.

She remained in Ajo until 1985 when she began spending the winter in Tempe with daughter & son-in-law, Shirley & Clarence Davis and summers in Pinetop with her daughter & son-in-law, Sheila & Paul Colarich.

For the past four years Mrs. Lumley has resided at Courtyard Towers Senior Living Community in Mesa.

"Elsie lived her life with dignity, grace and strength," said her family. "One highlight of her life, which humbled her greatly, is the fact that in 1927, the town of Dawson, New Mexico, (population about 5,000) held a popularity contest for the title of 'Miss Dawson'. Elsie, who worked at a local ice cream parlor, was elected with a vote of over 34,000 votes. A picture of her on the float appeared on her apartment wall among many other photos of her family and life. She has been a loving mother, grandmother and loyal friend and inspiration to both family and friends during her long lifetime."

She is survived by her daughters & sons-in-law, Shirley & Clarence Davis and Sheila & Paul Colarich; by her four grandchildren & their spouses, Steven Davis, Alan Davis, DaNeil (Colarich) & Jon Olson & Jason & Sue Colarich; and by her six great-grandchildren; Brian & Nicholas Davis, Alexandra & Maddison Davis, Erik & Corinn Olson.

Private family memorial service will be held at a later date. In lieu of flowers the family requests donations to the Courtyard Towers Employees Christmas Fund, 22 North Robson, Mesa, Arizona 85201 or to the Ajo Cemetery Association, P O Box 84, Ajo, Arizona 85321.

Eugene Reaves

Eugene D. Reaves, 90, died October 28, 2012.

He was born in Foreman, Arkansas, on March 12, 1922, to Agnes (Brown) & Edward Reaves.

He served in World War II as a staff sergeant in the Army Air Corps. He was a member of the 362 Fighter Squadron Group and was the supervisor for armament supply for his fighter group in the European campaign. His family said he was proud of his service and enjoyed attending the annual reunions of his fighter group.

On March 17, 1946, he married Edna Alexander in Coleman, Texas. They moved to Ajo from Texarkana, Texas, in 1953.

Mr. Reaves retired from Phelps Dodge in 1983 as warehouse supervisor for the supply department. After his retirement, the couple moved to Heber for a few years before returning to Ajo, a place he and his wife considered home.

He was a long-standing member of Ajo Calvary Baptist Church.

He is remembered for loving his family and enjoying fishing and hunting with his two grandsons and his son-in-law.

Mr. Reaves was preceded in death by his wife Edna Reaves, who died February 9, 2004, and by his grandson, Doug Acton, who died September 3, 1982.

He is survived by his daughter & son-in-law, Bobbie Joe & Wyatt Brand of California; by his grandson & his wife, Vance & Jeanine Acton; and by his great-grandchildren, Christian, Ariana, and Savannah, all of California.

Services were held in Ajo Calvary Baptist Church on Thursday, November 1.

Arrangements were made by Douglass Funeral Home.

Clyde A. Peed, 55, died Friday, October 2, 2012.

Services were held Friday morning, November 2, at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church in Avondale.

Connie Skousen

Constance M. Skousen, 77, died from cancer Wednesday, October 31, 2012, in Missoula, Montana.

A memorial service will be held at University Congregational Church in Missoula at 4 p.m. on Sunday, November 11.

Obits still free in Ajo Copper News

As more and more community newspapers begin charging for obituaries that do more than list the name of the deceased, date of death, and service information, the Ajo Copper News continues to print them at no charge.

"We do have a style and format we follow," said editor Gabrielle David, "and occasionally we have to edit what families have written, but we regard obituaries as important community news. We have no plans to start charging for them."

The newspaper has forms people may fill out to make sure nothing important is forgotten. Request a form by stopping by the office at 10 Pajaro, mailing a letter to Ajo Copper News, P.O. Box 39, Ajo, AZ 85321; calling 520-387-7688; or sending an e-mail to cunews@cunews.info with Obituary in the subject line.

County promises better maintenance by bridge

A community meeting was held on Thursday, November 1, at the Ajo Community Golf Course meeting room to air concerns about the Second Avenue bridge. Many left satisfied by Pima County's assurance that they would increase their vigilance and efforts to keep the bridge area clear and aware that little could be done to eliminate the need for flood insurance.

The meeting was facilitated by Deb Miller, special staff assistant to Pima County Supervisor Sharon Bronson with speakers Bill Zimmerman and Chris Cawein of the Pima County Regional Flood Control District and Richard Ducote of Freeport-McMoRan. About twenty area residents also attended and several voiced their opinions.

Built over Gibson Arroyo, the current bridge replaced one believed to have been built in the 1950s. Debris built up under the old bridge and caused flooding in the lower parts of town during a heavy storm in 2003. The bridge was replaced in 2006 by a new structure that Cawein said could handle three times the water flow as the old one.

Local resident Walt Puciata became alarmed this fall when, while walking with his dog, he found the open area under the bridge reduced. He notified county personnel and wrote to the Ajo Copper News, which resulted in the county sending dredging equipment and workers to clear out the debris. The crew put in a day's work and made some progress when the heavy September storms hit.

Puciata and other residents were concerned the clearance was inadequate to prevent flooding. Cawein has said the bridge was built with a 72-inch clearance and anything less than a 30% blockage is not viewed as critical. One of the problems in increasing clearance is bedrock close to the surface that does not allow a deeper channel.

At Thursday's meeting, Puciata, who has advocated something be done — such as guniting, rip-rapping, or cementing — to prevent the continued erosion of the embankments into the wash made a short presentation accompanied with pictures. He noted that the arroyo is actually a diversion channel and not a truly natural environment and that a lot of the debris is soil and plant matter washed off the embankments.

Tina West, who presented a letter she asked be part of the meeting record, was among those who consider the wash a natural treasure and was vehemently against armoring the banks. She noted that Pima County Flood Control District has said even if the banks were artificially contained, the arroyo would still not be large enough to continue an "unusual flow even".

She called on the county and Freeport-McMoRan to initiate a coordinated monitoring and maintenance program that focuses on removing dead trees, re-vegetation, trash pick-up, and minimum soil level maintenance at the bridge as well as monitoring upstream paving and construction.

Among those speaking up was Dennis Segura, who mentioned some of the many items he has recovered from washes and advocated spending more time cleaning arroyos. Others were Paul Vasquez, Sally Morrow, and Mari Zimmermann.

In reply to comments about flood insurance, Cawein noted that the areas considered high risk for flooding, and where owners of mortgaged property are compelled to purchase flood insurance, are determined by the Federal Emergency Management Agency and cannot be altered by the county.

Several members of the audience noted that a lot of water flows down Camelback Mountain (also known as A Mountain) during storms and that it is not just the Second Avenue bridge area that needs to be kept clear. Though there was some discussion of the need for someone to keep an eye on things and perhaps do some cleaning, no one came forward as a volunteer.

Cawein and Zimmerman agreed that the county has not been as vigilant as they should have been and plan to have a local contractor dredge the Second Avenue bridge area once a year. They also pledged to do a yearly inspection and work on regular tree trimming in the area they are responsible for.

It was noted that arroyos are the responsibility of the property owner; much of the county's area of responsibility comes from easements on property owned by Freeport-McMoRan. They cannot go on private property but can do vegetative maintenance and debris removal in the easement areas.

The flood control district does, however, have regulatory authority. Even though a wash may be on private property, owners may not build bridges or fences over or through a wash.

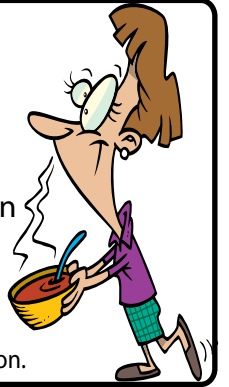

It was suggested that residents who note debris building up or junk being thrown in a wash notify either the flood control district or the zoning inspector who visits Ajo on a monthly basis. Cawein said if a problem is on private property, the county will address the issue with the property owner, issuing a violation notice if necessary.

Pima County Flood Control District may be reached through their website rfcd.pima.gov or by calling 520-243-1800.

Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument and the rest of America's 398 national park units will offer everyone free admission during the Veterans Day weekend, November 10 and 11, in honor of those who serve and have served in the US military.

"National parks preserve places that commemorate our country's collective heritage – our ideals, our majestic lands, our sacred sites, our patriotic icons – which our military has defended through the years," said National Park Service Director Jonathan B. Jarvis. "We are grateful for the service and sacrifice of military members, past and present, and honored to tell their story at many of our national parks."

National park units throughout the country will hold events to commemorate Veterans Day.

Dogs, flood control, law agencies, and clinic were all topics at recent WPCCC meeting

The November meeting of the Western Pima County Community Council was held last Thursday with topics of barking dogs, the Second Avenue bridge, local law enforcement agencies, and clinic educational sessions.

WPCCC councilor Paul Vasquez began the discussion about barking dogs on a positive note by saying that the issue appeared solved after the meeting about barking dogs earlier in the summer. However, he said, the respite was short-lived and the barking dog situation is back to what it was before the first meeting. Vasquez indicated that he does not see any active enforcement of barking ordinances and that the prevailing sentiment is that people who complain about the barking should simply go to the offending dog with treats so the dog gets used to the complaining party.

Muffet Rowe said that her dogs bark at the javelina, feral cats, or coyotes that pass by every night because that is what dogs do. She said it doesn't matter if the dogs are outside or inside the house, they will bark. She asked if all the javelinas, cats, and coyotes should then be killed to solve the issue.

Councilor Arlene Dreeste pointed out that there is an animal-noise complaint process, and she read much of it aloud. She said barking dog fines may range from $50 to $500 per offense, and that complainants may also pursue civil action on their own. She added that she has been to two hearings regarding dog issues, noting that a mediator comes from Tucson.

Debbie Morrow of Pima Animal Care Center reiterated that each barking dog incident needs to be reported and each is treated as a separate case. She said Ajo has a lot of irresponsible dog owners, including some renters with dogs that come and go. She said education is a slow process, but neighbors working together is still the best solution.

Lt. BJ Clements of PCSD Ajo District mentioned that there have been only nine barking dog complaints called in to the local sheriff's office in the past six months.

Three were due to javelinas in the area, he said, and wildlife personnel were called. Clements pointed out that if a dog is not barking when a deputy pulls up to the scene, there is nothing that can be done. He emphasized that documentation is needed to build a case so the first important step is to report each incident to the Ajo District office at 387-8539.

Viv Sartori said she asked a neighboring dog owner if a bark collar could be tried. She said it took the owner two years before trying it, and now the collar doesn't work anymore. She explained that when one dog starts barking, all the others within earshot follow suit. Sartori indicated the issue is not one of dogs needing to get used to new people in the area but one of dogs barking for extended periods day and night. She said the county ordinance needs to be streamlined for quicker results because "the deputies and I have other things to do."

Kord Klinefelter expressed displeasure in that certain people were insinuating that PACC personnel and deputies were not doing their jobs. He said the laws are being enforced, and just because authorities are not seen driving up and down streets every so often doesn't mean they are not doing their jobs.

Reporting on news about the Second Avenue bridge, Deb Miller of Pima County Supervisor Sharon Bronson's office said that the county easement in the arroyo only runs for a limited distance, which means it can only be dredged for a small portion of its overall length. She said there will be an increased effort by the county to keep the drainage under the bridge free of debris and at a proper clearance height. She said the county is not in favor of concreting the arroyo banks.

Regarding sidewalks in Ajo, Miller said obstacles such as overhanging branches and encroaching cacti may be reported to DOT in Ajo, or to her office at 520-724-8051. She said she would ask local DOT manager George Nicholson to come to a future WPCCC meeting. Miller said that safety issues related to roads should also be called in and DOT personnel from Tucson would be dispatched as soon as possible.

Clements reported that three newly certified deputies are working in the Ajo area. He asked to be notified if any of them were being unprofessional. Clements said the new Tasers the deputies will be carrying were purchased with drug-seizure money. He added that additional units from Tucson are sometimes in Ajo.

USBP agent Kelly Graham reported on a recent arrest of an Ajo woman trying to smuggle six firearms and 66,000 rounds of ammo into Mexico. He noted that the new station in Why is basically operational; the old building may be utilized by Organ Pipe.

Goli Mostoufi of Desert Senita Community Health Center talked about diabetes and hypertension presentations at the library along with a new program on women's health. There were more than 200 families at the recent festival.

There were brief reports on a cemetery cleanup, a Kaity's Way yard sale, and Bronson's help with the PCWIN radio upgrade for some agencies. Carol Yokum reminded all to vote.

Go plant something

Fall is a great time to start a vegetable garden, among other things. Plots can be full size like a Victory Garden, a more manageable raised bed, or just a container to two, depending on available time and ambition.

The low desert provides ample sun this time of year for arugula, beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, chard, cilantro, cucumbers, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, leeks, onions, peas, radishes, spinach, and tomatoes. Choose a garden site away from obstacles so the plot receives 6 hours or so of sun.

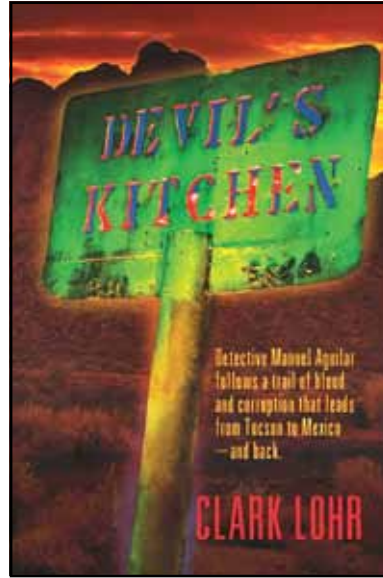

Raised beds can be built to any height to reduce the need to bend over, but the higher the bed the more fill and garden soil it will take to fill it. One popular method involves building the bed no more than 4-feet wide so veggies can be reached without the need to step in the soil. It's always a good idea to till the native ground below the bed to improve drainage, and build the frame of untreated wood sealed with a food-safe wood preservative such as linseed oil.

With containers, larger pots such as 5-gallon nursery pots or bigger are beneficial because they give roots more room and because the extra soil offers protection from day and night temperature changes.

Stagger vegetable plantings so all the lettuce, beets, etc., don't reach harvest time all at once. Dividing the soil into 1-square-foot mini-plots will aid in this.

The Ajo Center for Sustainable Agriculture kicked off its first vegetable share distribution of the season with a tour of the Dolce Vita (Sweet Life) Garden near 4th Street and McKinley. The center provides weekly shares of produce grown locally in Ajo backyard gardens and occasionally features items from other area organic farms. All proceeds from the sale of the shares are used to support vegetable gardening programs in Ajo.

Letter to the editor Lots of gardens and organizations

Editor:

I read with interest your recent coverage of the garden organization: "The Ajo Center for Sustainable Agriculture." There are other local food advocates working in town who can also help those, like myself, who want to grow food year around. As I began my garden, I was confused. "How many groups are there? Who does what?"

My attempt to connect with food growers began with the Ajo CSA (Community Supported Agriculture at the time). This group is now apparently called "The Center." After being unceremoniously expelled from the Ajo CSA in late January (along with several others), I went back to working my garden, wondering what the heck happened? Fortunately, I learned of others in town taking different approaches to promoting local food. For the benefit of anyone who may be confused, I have learned of the following organizations. There are to my knowledge seven (7) garden and/or healthy food consumer activities here in town.

Ajo Center for Sustainable Agriculture: An organization of unknown type. A non-profit? A corporation? A co-op? Is it part of the CSA officials' "small-growers financial plan?"

Ajo Community Garden Consortium: A not-for-profit club providing gardening space for rent. People can grow food with much of the hard stuff already provided: good soil, watering system, fencing for the pesky javelina and rabbits; plus the chance to work with others and share both food and friendship. It also supports a clinic and a school garden.

Ajo Garden Club: A civic organization that helps residents landscape their homes, and provides recognition to those who have done so. Its focus is landscaping.

Ajo Regional Food Partnership: A consortium of local groups including Desert Senita, ISDA, AUSD, and others that promotes food security. To the Partnership, "Food Matters."

Bountiful Baskets: A volunteer-run cooperative for bulk purchase and distribution of organic produce to approximately 30 households. Food is provided via an every-other-week pick-up.

Humming House: A private household-based garden outreach and education effort, a newsletter, and "Open Garden" sessions free to the public.

Seed Library: Our local library has a wonderful seed lending system in place! For free you can get seed of many varieties, and then help—over time—to replenish the stock with the seed you save.

Master Gardener, Mike Mekelburg writes for the Ajo Copper News providing most of its garden-related articles. I understand he is also an arborist. Also, Allan Dunstan is a "master native tree and shrub specialist" whose business is the design and installation of native species to enhance your environment.

If I omitted others, please contact the Ajo Copper News so they can identify you and let the community know of your efforts as they have done with the Ajo CSA.
Marie NaVeaux

Humming House has garden talks, food swaps, more

Humming House is a grass roots group in the Ajo area that grows local produce and harvests seeds and eggs, as well as crafting clothing and various household items. The group does not sell its wares but seeks to teach others about sustainable living and the art of salvaging materials that might otherwise end up in the landfill.

Scheduled workshops in November and December include Composting in Your Kitchen, Making Your Own Soil, Seed Starting Without Containers, and Making Portable Cold Frames.

The workshops are part of the Humming House program called Open Gardens, which invites the community to the garden at 110 West Third Avenue every Monday from 4 to 6 p.m. Food and craft swaps and garden socials are alternatively held with the workshops during the Monday gatherings.

To learn more about the Humming House Open Gardens, contact Kathleen Stevens at 510-325-6293 or at psibrat@yahoo.com online.

AUSD school board to meet next week

The Ajo Unified School District board has its study session meeting Tuesday, November 13, and will meet in regular session Wednesday, November 14. Both meetings begin at 5:30 p.m.

Meetings are held in the board meeting room on the AUSD campus. All meetings are open to the public.

Library programs keep people busy

The library has many ongoing programs, which include Stay and Play on Wednesdays at 9 a.m., bilingual family story-time on Thursdays at 10:30 a.m., and after-school homework help Mondays through Thursdays.

On Thursday, November 8, at 10 a.m., Desert Senita Community Health Center will present the first of many "Healthy You" programs at the library. This week attendees will learn about diabetes and how to eat healthier.

On Monday, November 12, the library will be closed in observance of Veterans Day.

On Tuesday, November 13, at 3:30 p.m., the first session of a two-session computer class will begin with email, including using the address book and junk mail filters. Advanced registration is required. Call 387-6075 to sign up.

More information about library activities can be found in the library's ad elsewhere in this issue.

Ajo High School student council president Lindsey Leon, fellow student Eric Mancilla, student council secretary Erika Salcido, treasurer Cassandra Coyle, freshman class president Charlee Harper, and student council sponsor and transformation coach Katy Wilkins (in car) spent Saturday morning washing vehicles at Holt's car wash to raise funds for a trip. Hidden behind the glare of the windshield is social chair Holly Poole.

Ten high school class officers are planning to attend the Student Council State Convention in Gilbert on January 24, 25, and 26, 2013. About $2,500 needs to be raised, according to the group. The car wash was their first fundraiser for the trip.

This super sweet female mixed breed is good with kids. She is six months old and can be seen at the Pima Animal Care Center. Call them at 387-7502.

Local agents nab smuggler, drugs

US Border Patrol agents assigned to the Ajo Station were aided by a Customs & Border Protection helicopter on Wednesday, October 31, as they located a stolen Chevy truck that had been driven at a high rate of speed away from the approaching agents. The driver of the fleeing vehicle had abandoned the truck but agents were able to track him through the desert and arrest him a short distance away. Agents found 80 bundles of marijuana weighing 1,924 pounds inside the truck. The drugs were turned over to the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Businesses, offices close for Vets Day

This year's Veterans Day commemoration means a number of community entities will be closed for business on Monday, November 12, including the Ajo Unified School District.

To avoid inconvenience, call first to determine if a particular entity is open that day.

Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument will offer free admission during the Veterans Day weekend. Pima County Sheriff's Department, Ajo Ambulance, Ajo Improvement, Table Top Telephone, and the Ajo Copper News will be open as usual.

WPCCC seeks nominations

Nominations for Western Pima County Community Council representatives of odd-numbered districts - 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, and 11 - will be accepted throughout November, with election taking place at the Thursday, December 6, meeting. All new candidates must be legal residents of the district they seek to represent, be registered voters in Arizona, submit a notarized statement declaring the candidate has not been convicted of a felony or crime involving fraud, and submit a one-page resume listing qualifications.

Qualifications should include education, work experience or any previous community involvement, and a paragraph on the goals envisioned for western Pima County.

Candidates for reelection must submit a form stating their intention to run and a statement declaring that the previous notarized statements are still true. All paperwork must be completed and received by the election committee one week prior to the election.

For further information, contact Carol Yokum at 387-1101.

Cemetery cleanup is Wednesday

A community cleanup is planned for Wednesday afternoon, November 7, from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Ajo Cemetery.

Members of local veterans organizations will be on hand with small American flags for youth to place on military gravesites. Local Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops, GED students, and other groups will be there to help volunteers from the community.

Ajo Ambulance is the latest recipient of the Landscape of the Quarter award from the Ajo Garden Club. The expansive property at the local station is covered by decorative rock and plantings of mulga trees, Texas sage, red hesperaloe, desert marigold, and palo verde.

Designed by a landscape architect, the parcel has only low-water-use plants and complies with Pima County Developmental Services landscape requirements for businesses, noted administrative liaison Dan Morales. This includes compliance with the county's major route beautification plan, water conservation, and proper storm water drainage. An irrigation system was installed by a certified irrigation company and the grounds are maintained by Ajo Ambulance personnel, including a University of Arizona master gardener.

"The garden club is doing a wonderful job in striving to make Ajo a more attractive community by recognizing the efforts of local businesses and homeowners," said Morales.

The young shade trees on the site – species Acacia Aneura, or mulga – are native to the outback of Australia. Generally small in size, they typically live about 200 years in a stress-free environment. The word mulga is an Aboriginal term for shields, which were commonly made from its extremely hard wood. The wood has also been used for digging sticks, tools, weapons, boomerangs, and woomeras (a spear-throwing device similar to an atlatl).

Lito Castillo made a purchase from Susan Guinn-Lahm during the Kaity's Way yard sale last weekend while Andy Montijo, Sharon Montijo, and Bobbi Sudberry looked over tables of clothing in the background. Guinn-Lahm noted that the November and April yard sales grow bigger every year and community members are donating items to the charity year-round now. Sponsors for the latest sale were Kord's Auto Care, Oasis Café, and Olsens IGA.

Proceeds from the yard sales go to Kaity's Way, an organization that seeks to bring awareness to and educate against violence among and against children, as well as teen dating violence. "A focus of ours is to educate on how to build healthy dating relationships," said Guinn-Lahm. The recent yard sale brought in slightly more than $2000, she said.

Tom Branson III and his daughter Beatrice celebrated after Branson completed the ninth annual Soma Triathlon in Tempe on Sunday, October 21.

A half Iron Man Triathlon in length, the Soma Triathlon consists of a 1.25-mile swim, a 56-mile bike ride, and a 13.1-mile run. Branson finished 29th in a field of 1000 participants.

The second day of deer-hunting season this year proved a memorable one for Matt Rossi. Around 9 a.m. Saturday, October 27, he bagged this 200-plus pound prize in an Ajo-area mountain range. The 4x6 mule deer buck in velvet had an extra main beam and a drop tine on the right side. "It was pretty high up the mountain," said Rossi, "and it took me the better part of three hours to hike him out."

by Colleen King

We were off and golfing for another busy week here at the club.

Monday evening skins had a show of seven players. Three skins were taken that night. First was two taken by Bill Conley on #s 13 and 17. Second was Bill King with a skin on #16.

Tuesday morning men's league showed a turnout of approximately fifteen avid golfers. Bill Conley came through first with a score of 64, followed closely by Moe Landry with a 66. Bill King took third with a 68. King also had two chip-ins on #3 and #12. And Ray Fober and Harley Murray got one each on #7 and #15.

Couples had its first game of the season on Wednesday in spite of Halloween. Five couples attended with first place going to Bill & Paula Doremus with a 29.4 and second to Bill & Colleen King with a 31.2. The other teams of Frank Milene & Carol Peek, Harley & Elaine Murray, and Bud Turner & Fran Pritzl were close at our golfing heels. Our teams were met on # 9 by the opposition of Bud, Fran, Paula, and Bill who formed a cheering section for every putt. A good laugh was had by all...as the putting really left something to be desired!

Pro-Am had a total of 23 players. First place went to the Dick Gates team of Keith Williams, Joe Gonzales, Bud Turner, and Paula Doremus at -2, and second place was won by Mike Sheridan's team of Jack Tavenner, Patty Taylor, and Roy Johnson with -1. Great golfing, guys!

The rest of the week is filled with golfers who come out to enjoy our course. And who just drop in to say "hello" and say that their back again safely for another season. Welcome to Jerry Holm, Jack Taverner, Lynda & Tony McGarry, Marlene & Marty McCrystal, Mike Sheradon & Liz Bacca., and George & Norma Steckel. Good to see you all safe.

It is just so great to join all the players in the Club House Lounge after these events and chew over the games... laugh at the bad drives and putts ... and boast a little on the great ones.

We will be in full swing this coming week with Monday skins at 3 p.m., Tuesday men's league at 9 a.m., Wednesday couples at 3 p.m., and Pro-Am on Friday at 3 p.m.

Any ladies that would like to golf on Thursday at 9 a.m., come on out and we'll get our league started!

We would like to extend our sincere apology to any of our guests that drove out to have breakfast or lunch with us on Saturday or Sunday. Due to an unforeseen situation with the water in Ajo, the supply to the Club was shut off on Friday and will remained so until Tuesday.

All the members came together and have worked hard to help make this Club the success it is. You rock!!!

Do come out to our Club and enjoy all the great golf we have to offer and join us in our lounge and restaurant seven days a week.
