Until We Meet Again

Ruth Runge

April 3, 1929 - December 2, 2011

Those special memories of you will always bring a smile if only we could have you back For a little while.

Then we could sit and talk again just like we used to do. You mean so very much to us and will always be a part of us. The fact that you're no longer here will always cause us pain but you are forever in our hearts until we meet again.

Mom we miss you so very much when you passed a part of our heart passed with you But we know you are at peace Until we meet again

We love you and miss you always

Looking somewhat like a giant jumping castle inside the AUSD media center, an inflatable planetarium loomed large over the heads of elementary school students and accompanying teachers during the Reach for the Stars orientation last week. School transformation coach Katy Wilkins led groups inside the enclosure for presentations about astronomy, using the inside of the dome as a hemispherical film screen.

‘Children are limitless’ and tax cuts extreme

“These children are limitless,” art teacher Rufus Magobotha told the Ajo Unified School District board at the beginning of its study session last week as part of his presentation of recent work by students, and it struck a positive note. Sophomore Elysha Sipe also shared her art workbook and expressed her appreciation of the class.

The Ajo Unified School Board met in study and regular sessions last week to review and act on a brief agenda which included the introduction of new staff, and other personnel, student, and business issues. Prior to tackling agenda matters, a moment of silence was observed to honor the memory of longtime school employee Ann Davis.

Superintendent Robert Dooley spoke to the board about likely effects from voter decision to not renew a 1% statewide sales tax imposed three years ago to aid education. He estimated that in the past four years, $238,000 has been cut from the local school budget, and that the sales tax repeal will represent approximately another $100,000 in local cuts. “Our English budget was cut 44% in the past year,” he said, “and for every dime we get from the state, eight cents is already earmarked.” Dooley told the board there would be more extensive discussion of the budget situation at its December meetings.

Principal Brian MacKenzie introduced new teachers to the board and audience: Renalou Albano, Angelina Santos, Rufina Alcanzo, Joel Mallillin, Christopher Parado, Gilbert Gabriel, Shanna Sellers, Fraulein Monge, and Kiran Beharie.

In a call to the audience, former staff member Tom Powell asked the board to follow up on an offer made in September to donate computer equipment to the district.

In other personnel issues, the board accepted the resignations of school secretary Yvette Meyer, teacher’s aide Stephanie Esquivel, and custodian Deidre Hooker. It also authorized Dooley to create job titles that will help expedite the visa process in hiring international teachers.

Overnight travel to the Arizona Association for Student Councils state convention in Gilbert January 24-26 was approved for nine students and a chaperone. The board also okayed overnight travel November 28-29, for a dozen members of the boys high school basketball team to participate in the Salt River Shootout.

A mandated increase to $7.80 per hour in minimum wage, effective January 1, 2013, for 10 employees was approved, as was a one-time out-of-year invoice approval to a supplies vendor.

The board also discussed a change in the governing policy that stipulates how school facilities may be named to honor contributors and contributions. The board deferred action pending further information and advice from legal counsel.

learned more about
financial aid

Dr. Aubrey Conover, vice president of student development at the Pima Community College west campus, talked to Ajo school students and parents last Thursday during the Reach for the Stars student-family orientation in the school cafeteria. PCC financial aid specialist Lupita Serrano talked about scholarship and other financial opportunities that may be applied for.

Conover pointed out that tuition costs vary dramatically from one educational institution to another. He said a fulltime student 12-credit tuition cost at PCC runs $762, whereas fulltime tuition at the University of Arizona is $4,557. Class size, he said, can also vary widely, anywhere from 35 students per classroom to 350. At the same time, admissions requirements can vary as much as costs. He said students and parents need to research the many aspects of higher education and actively seek out resources for academic assistance. Serrano added that a FAFSA, or Free Application for Federal Student Aid, should be completed and sent off soon by high school seniors seeking federal aid for college. Claire Bistline & daughter fight cancer together

Ajo artist Claire Bistline was diagnosed in August with the most aggressive type of breast cancer. The diagnosis, in an unfortunate twist, occurred while Bistline was in Spokane taking care of her daughter Erin, who is undergoing radiation and chemotherapy for the same aggressive cancer.

The mother-daughter team is currently in Spokane for mutual support during treatment. Bistline’s two young grandsons help out wherever possible. Claire and Erin alternate chemo sessions so they can better care for one another. Fellow artist Wendee Cloutier noted that both are strong women but the treatments are very tiring.

A yard sale is planned for Saturday, December 1, beginning at 8 a.m. at the Bruce & Kathy Davis residence, 200 Morondo Avenue. Funds raised will be used toward medical costs and transportation for Bistline’s husband Terry Gonzalez to make visits from Ajo.

Cloutier said she recently read a book about cancer patients and how good it makes them feel to receive cards and emails from friends and acquaintances. Claire and Erin may be contacted online at erinbroughton.blogspot.com/. There is also a link from the webpage to a Spokane television story about their mother-daughter cancer battle.

For more information about the yard sale, contact Kathy Davis at 387-3911.

The historic Curley School gymnasium is undergoing some needed repairs. Letter to the editor
Stew over chicken

Editor:

I was doing business in our local bank the other day and happened to meet up with our local Animal Control Officer. She politely told me that my neighbor had called her about my rooster. I asked if it was a year-rounder or short-timer. She said both. Perhaps a short-timer might be less likely to approach me about the opportunity to improve our neighborhood. My first point is that it is great to live in a community where public servants like the Animal Control Officer will inform me of an activity that could become a fine. This process has been happening for at least 13 years, because when I moved to the neighborhood and did not have a fence yet, the Animal Control Officer did come to me at my job to notify me of my unintentional crime of tying out my dogs. Ooops!

Secondly, I did not intend to have a rooster. Gender is not obvious in 3-day-old chicks and the first time I got chicks, I got lucky - no rooster.

I encourage neighbors to talk to neighbors and sometimes knowledge will be exchanged. It appears that a rooster has a small brain and crows whenever I walk out the back door. Over the past two weeks we have had a plumbing issue and had to run next to the grandma cottage for facilities. One night, I was up extremely early and yes, the rooster crowed. Yikes! Over the past days, I think this extremely early cock-a-doodle has stopped. The plan is to stew the rooster and use the rainbow-colored feathers to learn to tie flies, make hatbands or perhaps earrings. “Gemmy” is a gorgeous creature with a huge comb, making him tolerate the hot summers in Ajo. That makes him a good breeder. One person in Ajo is trying to breed a more heat-tolerant chicken. Anyone wanting more information or some of my feathers can ask their neighbors where to find me. Volunteers, supplies and donations are needed to get the heat-tolerant chicken operation going if interested.

Thirdly, I beg for a little patience until we stew the rooster, between the holidays. A fan running might cover the noise? I will be glad to loan you a fan, my neighbors, and I hope we might share some conversation. Perhaps you know a way to take the doodle out of the cock other than the stew pot?

A sincere lover of animals, dirt and people,

Jane Canon

Tibbie is a 2-year-old, neutered male, gray & white housecat who got “left behind” when the folks he lived with moved on. He’s looking for a new and secure home, and more information is available by contacting the Pima Animal Care Center at 387-7502.

Kaye & Ben Friend admired the artwork of mouth-painter Alina Trevor, who was the beneficiary of a Chuck’s Wagon barbeque fundraiser last week. Helping with the event were chef Chuck Johnson, Mike & Cathy MacFarland, Anita Phelps, & Mae Ebann.

An artist in Caborca, Sonora, Mexico, Trevor was injured in an automobile accident one month before her 17th birthday. Paralyzed from the neck down, she paints with a brush in her mouth. Her art has been featured in exhibits around the world. Much of her work is painted from memory through her love of the desert, flowers, and other favorite topics.

A visit by the MacFarlands to Caborca in 2008 started the fund-raising efforts. They visited Trevor in her studio and were struck by her talents and her personality.

“You have to meet her to see how sweet she is,” said Mike MacFarland. “She speaks English very well and loves having company. She has gone through so much she goes beyond that. She’s always happy, very gracious. It’s just amazing what she can do.”

Neighborhood Watch renewal meeting is next Tuesday

The Sheriff’s Auxiliary Volunteers will hold its annual Neighborhood Watch renewal meeting on Tuesday, November 27, at 6 p.m. at the Ajo Community Center at Walker Park.

“The Ajo District of Pima County Sheriff’s Department and the Ajo SAVs would like to meet with you at this time to update your Neighborhood Watch program with you and your neighbors. We will discuss any problems you may have,” said Lt. B. J. Clements and SAVs Forrest Burkenbine and Tom Schnell. They warn that any neighborhood that is unrepresented at the meeting risks losing their Neighborhood Watch road signs.

Questions should be directed to Burkenbine at 387-4426, or Schnell at 387-8531.

A new program on scams will also be presented at the meeting.

DSCHC starts new women’s health group

Desert Senita Community Health Center has added a new group aimed at helping women of all ages learn about women’s health. All About Women is dedicated to focusing on issues such as cervical cancer, osteoporosis, breast cancer, and other topics that affect the female population. Also planned are group walks and healthy snacks reminding participants of the importance of exercise and a healthy diet. The new group is also a great place to make new friends and gain the support of other women who may be experiencing the same things in life.

To join the group, contact Mostoufi at 387-5388. Space is limited so calling before November 26 to save a seat is recommended. The group will meet every Wednesday at noon, beginning on December 5.

Celebrating the growing of food in Ajo, as well as the community spirit behind it all. Pumpkins are quite easy to grow in Ajo. This summer, after harvesting our pumpkins, I cooked most of them and put the pumpkin in freezer containers. Then we put about 10 medium sized ones in our darkest closet (on a plastic sheet) while we were on vacation for 2 months. Were they all rotten when we returned? Only 2 had to be composted, and the rest I am cooking into Pumpkin Butter, and saving every seed.

I am saving every pumpkin seed because I care about my husband’s health. According to World’s Healthiest Foods, www.whfoods.com, pumpkin seeds may provide a beneficial effect on prostate health, as well as protection for men’s bones due to added zinc, and anti-inflammatory benefits for arthritis. Pumpkin seeds are a rich source of protein, monounsaturated fats, and the following healthful minerals: magnesium, manganese, phosphorus, iron, copper, protein, and as previously mentioned, zinc. The phytosterols in pumpkin seeds actually have a cholesterol-lowering effect. So do sesame seeds.

Therefore, guys, be prepared to nibble on tasty pumpkin seeds. Here’s how to do it. Rinse and then dry your pumpkin seeds, removing any pulp. Be creative in the coating, and place the seeds in a baking dish. Bake for 10 – 15 minutes at 325 degrees, tossing them around once or twice.

- Sweet: honey, cinnamon, sugar.
- Spicy: olive oil, cayenne pepper, paprika, salt, pepper.
- Zingy: peanut oil, soy sauce, ground ginger, spicy red chili sauce.
- Addictive: melted butter, thin slices of garlic, coarse sea salt.

Try sweet seeds as a topping on yogurt or applesauce, and savory seeds on soups and salads. When eating the roasted seeds as a snack, you can bite off the pointed tip to crack the shell and enjoy the tasty inner seed. Here’s to your good health, men!

About that Pumpkin Butter. Someone told me that Trader Joe’s is featuring it right now, but I heard about it through the Mother Earth News website, www.motherearthnews.com. Cook a medium pumpkin and scoop out the flesh (save and roast those seeds!). Add honey, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves to taste. Cook this down awhile until it thickens.

IGA classes are a family affair

This is not simply a story of commitment, hard work, and becoming better at your job. Nor is it only an account of four people who balance jobs and education. It's those things and more: working as a team to develop a better workplace while achieving individual goals, and, having fun. And, importantly, it's a family thing for some.

For the past six weeks, Olsens IGA has sponsored a voluntary on-line training program for its employees as part of the IGA-Coca Cola Institute. Participants study on their own time and are required to have an 80% or better test score for certification. Typical class subjects include coursework such as customer service and professionalism, food safety and sanitation, sexual harassment issues, and cross-training in all departments, and more than 90 courses are available.

Three of the students share the distinction of being siblings. Jorge Estrada, 17, and Jose Aguilar Delgado, 16, are part-time Olsens employees, while their big sister, Yolanda Aguilar, 28, is a cashier at the store.

Linda Hood, bakery and deli manager, is in the program as well. Hood, 51, also raises her 12-year-old grandson, Joshua.

Aguilar and her brothers grew up together in Phoenix. "We were always close growing up," she said. "And now I can keep an eye on them at work, too," she laughed. She's worked at Olsens for nearly two months now, and in addition to work and classes, she's raising four children – 12, 10, 7, and 3 years old. Future plans include completing her GED when her children are grown.

Jorge has been working at Olsens for four years, and his brother Jose has been there three years. Both are also full-time students at Ajo High School, and both are members of the US Border Patrol Explorer program.

Jorge, a senior, enjoys working on his truck and quads – when he has time. He's interested in pursuing a career with the Border Patrol or, perhaps, becoming a US Marine. "I like culinary arts stuff at school, also," he said, "and what we're learning through the IGA program is really progressive, really good. It makes us better workers and we represent the store better."

Jose is a sophomore. He enjoys welding and has his eye set on college and law-enforcement work. "The things we're learning help make me a better person," he said of the IGA program. "And when everybody works as a team, it all works out better. It makes a person that much more valuable."

Hood said that she and her grandson do homework together, and that while the coursework is time-consuming, "these are things you can use in daily life. It's wonderful that it gets us into new arenas."

That's praise they all share. "It's always better to know more than a little, always good to learn new things," said Jorge. "It's fun because you're working in one area, but you learn what everyone else does," added Yolanda. "There's such an advantage to learning," said Hood.

The family ties are clearly a benefit. Yolanda, Jorge, and Jose live together, work together, study together. "If it gets quiet, you know there's something wrong," said Jose. Hood said that the time spent with her grandson is enriched and special.

"We're all trying to get ahead and be ahead in life," said Jorge.

The three-day grand opening of the new ACE hardware business in Olsens IGA took place last weekend with the parking lot full all three days. Above, Sally Banks, left, and Carol Johnson got help in the paint section. The store-within-a-store has approximately 25,000 items in stock in a 3500-square-foot area. "It's about 85%-90% of what we have available in a 10,000-square-foot store," said Kevin Hilde, ACE district manager. Hilde said that the grocery/hardware store combination is the first of its kind in the state.

Learn to plan a garden and keep records for seeds

The Ask-a-Gardener program continues this month with a presentation at the public library about garden planning and record keeping as a tool for seed saving. It will be held at 2 p.m. on Friday, November 23.

Ask-a-Gardener presentations are a collaboration between the Ajo Community Garden Consortium and the Salazar-Ajo Branch Library. Kathleen Stevens said the monthly presentations will be casual to encourage questions.

"Since we can't grow in a sustainable way without also saving seed – and saving our own seed is the best way to develop plants that work best for our garden – I feel that actively supporting an effort like the Seed Library is absolutely necessary for anyone serious about local sustainability," said Stevens.

Stevens will also be on hand during a volunteer work session at the ACGC community garden, located between the Rock Church and Marcela's, on Saturday, November 24, from 9 a.m. to noon. She will discuss the new garden site and field gardening-related questions.

Ajo Community Golf Course
GOLF

by Liz Baca

The Ajo Community Golf Course wishes to extend a very happy Thanksgiving to everyone this week; out at the golf course we are very thankful this season to everyone in Ajo who supports the club and especially for all of those in the community who continue to volunteer their time and hard work on the grounds and on repairs and maintenance in the building. The golf course is one of many special assets in our town and your contributions and help are vital in sustaining the course and are much appreciated.

The new board of directors: Mike Zozaya, Greg Burton, Dolf Uyleman and Patti Taylor are pleased to announce some exciting new changes in the clubhouse this season. There has been complete new change of kitchen management and restaurant and bar staff for the rest of the season with new extended serving hours. There is also a new website at ajogolf.com with a sample of the new menu as well as information on golf memberships, special events, etc.

The golf course is open daily from dawn ‘til dusk; if the pro shop volunteer is gone for the day, please use the honor box next to the #1 tee.

The winners in last week’s games are as follows: The Skins game Monday, November 12, had nine players with Mike Sheridan making a skin on hole 10 and the guys happily claimed that Bob Glowdowski “captain of the rinky dinks” ended his 10- year drought and made a skin on number 17!

In Men’s Club play Tuesday November 13, Frank Milene and Bill Conley both shot a 67; with Milene prevailing on the count back; Greg Burton took second with a score of 68 and the only chip-in was made by Paul Barnhart on # 10.

Six couples took to the fairways Wednesday, November 14, with Bill and Paula Doremus leading the field with a 28.8 while Joe and Bea Trueba picked up second place with an even 30.

At Friday’s Pro-Am November 16, we had 23 golfers. Greg Burton’s team: Lynda McGarry, Ernie Ochoa, Bill Parker and Bill Murray turned in a -4 to capture first place. At two under for second place was Paul Barnhart’s group: Joe Gonzales, Trudy Barnhart, Joe Trueba and George Steckel.

A lot of people went home with turkeys last Saturday after our annual Turkey Shoot Scramble including Mike Zozaya, Dolf Uyleman, Frank Milene, Elaine Murray, Dick Gates, Tony McGarry, Jesus Luna, and Bob Holden. Camilo Arias won his turkey for closest to the pin; In the men’s putt contest Dolf Uyleman came close, within 8 1/2 inches but Greg Burton took that one by holing out his putt. Bea Trueba won the women’s chip off and Paula Doremus beat the men and women with her chipping skills in a combined chip contest, and Lynda McGarry won a new driver for carding a fabulously low score of 95 for her round.

Afterwards, all of the golfers enjoyed a delicious spaghetti lunch prepared by Yvonne Burton.

For more information on the happenings around the course, or to pitch in in any way, please call 387-5011 or go to ajogolf.com.

Harold Hummer, left, of the Arizona Community Tree Council, offered a lesson on native tree planting and supervised the backfilling of a newly planted foothills palo verde behind the former Border Patrol building in Why last week. Doing shovel work were Shawn MacGill of the National Park Service, Stacy Guinn of Freeport-McMoRan Copper & Gold Inc., Kenneth Richardson of NPS, Organ Pipe superintendent Lee Baiza, Scott Good and Brian Rose of the US Border Patrol, and Ken Tallant and Bob Bryant of NPS. At right, Heilee O'Quinn of the Arizona Community Tree Council moved in close for a photo.

The landscape enhancement project began earlier in the year when staff at the Organ Pipe Cactus National Monument submitted a proposal to the Arizona Community Tree Council on behalf of USBP for two trees for planting on the grounds of the original Border Patrol station in Why. The trees were sponsored by Freeport-McMoRan.

Also applying for the program was Greg Burton of the Ajo Community Golf Course. Two desert willow trees were planted between fairways 6 and 7, with the help of the golf course board of directors and other volunteers, and Stacy Guinn.

Hummer is also a utility arborist with Tucson Electric Power. He lived in Ajo as a child from 1950 to 1957 and said he recalls people saying the town had anywhere from 6,000 to 16,000 residents at the time. He remembers the July 4 fireworks off the tailings with a big celebration in the Plaza, Santa at Christmas time, scouts, the Copper Giant theatrical production, sleeping on screened porches, and evaporative coolers for cars where the back seat occupants would end up drenched. He attended the Immaculate Conception school while Fathers Strednak and Yates were at the church. He said a feature movie, a few cartoons, and popcorn was a deal at the Oasis Theater for 25¢. The drive-in theater was also a hit with Hummer's mother making popcorn and a gallon jug of Kool-Aid. Hummer became something of a celebrity while in Ajo when he and his two brothers contracted polio and were featured in an Arizona Republic news article.

"I live in Tucson but I'm really an Ajoite," he said. "I really enjoyed growing up in Ajo. This is only my third time back and it's changed quite a bit, especially from the perspective of an eight-year-old. It's just cool to be back."

Joel Mallillin is the new math teacher at Ajo Unified School District for grades 9 through 12.

He has a bachelor's degree in secondary education with a major in mathematics and general science. Previously he taught math at the University of City of Muntinlupa in the Philippines and at Prince George's County Public Schools in Maryland.

"I enjoyed working with other students when I was in high school and my high school teacher influenced me to become a teacher," he said.

He commented that life in Ajo is simple and rural.

His hobbies and interests include photography, hiking, and other outdoor activities.

Thanksgiving facts

The Plymouth Pilgrims were the first to celebrate Thanksgiving after sailing across the Atlantic Ocean to the New World. The first Thanksgiving lasted three days.

With 22 years of teaching experience – 17 in the Philippines and 5 in the US – Alcanzo's education includes master's degrees in economics & special education, and a bachelor's degree in economics.

"Teaching is a most fulfilling career," she said. "I know I have what it takes to help the students maximize their potentials and succeed in life."

Commenting on life in Ajo, she said she likes the strong community spirit and the warmth and hospitality of the people.

In her spare time she enjoys playing guitar, watching television, and reading.

She is married to Ferdinand Alcanzo. They have five children, Ruben (22), Bea (20), Bernice (17), Bobbie (15), and Bettina (9).

Basketball prediction: Interesting!

By Robert Sorrels

“It’s going to be an interesting season,” was the sentiment shared by Lady Raider coach Brad Harvey and Raider coach Brian English. Interesting season is coach-speak for: I’ve got a young team and a new system. We’ll take some lumps along the way.

The Ajo boys’ and girls’ teams do share some characteristics. They are young – both will start freshman. They lack height. The tallest Raider is 6’ while the Lady might be 5’ 9”, and they aren’t particularly fast. Still both coaches are quietly optimistic noting that several players are “quick,” which is valuable.

Harvey is pleased with the turnout but has 3 freshman and 4 sophomores and only 2 players with much experience. “Our emphasis is on recognizing that it is a team effort and we are doing well with that.”

The Lady Raiders are implementing a motion offense and will begin the season playing a tight zone. If they progress well, they might move to “man up” and a trapping defense. “This system puts a lot of responsibility on the player. Every time she handles the ball she’ll have to make decisions on movement and line of attack. It really requires toughness on the girls’ part. They’re really progressing.” Harvey doesn’t try to predict number of wins but is convinced that, “As the girls improve, we’re going to surprise a few people.”

The boys’ turnout was so good that the Raiders will be able to play a full JV schedule. English also has 2 seniors, neither with much experience. He also has a few with some previous playing time. “We aren’t big enough to dominate in the middle so we’re going to press and run. Sure we’ll get burnt some times, but this team won’t give up. We’ll play man-to-man and the opposing teams will know they had to work for it.”

The Red Raiders will start 2 freshmen including the point guard. This suggests, early on anyway, that the team will make mistakes. Both English and Harvey were emphatic about the need to shake them off. “Sure, we’ll make mistakes, even dumb ones, but that’s past. Get your head on the play happening now,” is how English described this emphasis.

English and Harvey were also confident that Raider athletics is on the rise. “Beginning sports in middle school is so good.” English noted. “It gets more kids involved and by the time they get to high school they’ll have some fundamental skills. We won’t have to start from zero with the freshmen.”

So that’s the season’s prediction - it will be interesting. With the boys playing up-tempo ball and the girls running a motion offense, there won’t be much standing around.

Superintendent’s Thoughts

by Dr. Robert Dooley
Superintendent, Ajo Unified School District

It is the season to express thanks. For a small rural community, in my opinion we have a number of things to be thankful for regarding our public school system. The accountability movement, while important, has caused many to leave public education, or worse yet, not to go into that profession. Another factor that negatively impacts all in public education is the lack of funding for programs and salaries in Arizona when compared with 47 states that fund schools better than Arizona does.

Regardless of these facts, we in Ajo have been able to hire well-trained public school educators for which we all should be thankful. In the public school system in Arizona, it is not enough to be certified, one must be “highly qualified” as deemed by the state of Arizona to teach in a given grade level and in a given content area. Of the 39 certificated staff in your local public school system, 11 possess a minimum of a Bachelor’s Degree. This means they have completed at least 4 years of rigorous college training. Another 25 have completed a minimum of a Master’s Degree.

To receive a Master’s Degree, one must minimally attend 5 years of training at the university level...not college, but university. Often this takes 6-7 years of graduate level work. One teacher has a vocational education certificate. To receive this credential a teacher must document in excess of 6000 hours of employment in the trade in which he/she teaches. Two of our staff have been granted doctoral degrees.

To complete a doctoral degree, one must follow a rigorous university program that includes internships, at least two series of written and oral comprehensive exams, a dissertation, and a minimum of 8 years of college depending upon the program outlined by the university which granted the degree.

I challenge other rural and remote public school districts to produce a list of professional staff with this admirable a list of credentials.

People do not go into education to become financially prosperous. They go into the educational profession to help students’ lives. Having an advanced degree does not guarantee this, but it does make the statement that a given educator cared enough to seek additional training to try to find ways to do their job better.

I am thankful for learners...regardless of their age.

Tax credit donations let people give and receive

“At this time of year, many of us are focusing on what to give or what we may receive in the nature of gifts from our friends and family members for gifts,” notes Superintendent Bob Dooley. “The state legislature, several years ago, created a law that allows those Arizona citizens who pay state tax to give a financial gift to our local school districts.”

Tax credit donations to the local Arizona school district directly benefit the students in the school. People who file a single tax return may donate $200 to the school district. Those who file a joint return may donate $400 to the district. “These donations will be returned to you as a direct tax refund if you pay state income tax for at least the amount you donated,” said Dooley. “This is a “win/win” opportunity for the donor and for the students of the Ajo Unified School District.”

Tax credit donations may be used by the school for costs associated with extracurricular student activities. This means that funds may be used to defray expenses students incur for after school athletic activities, club activities, or student government activities. The donor may designate the activity for which the funds are donated, or they may let the district leadership use the funds for what they deem the greatest need.

Tax credit donations may be mailed to:
Ajo Unified School District
Superintendent’s Office
P. O. Box 68
Ajo, AZ 85321.

To receive tax credit for the 2012 tax year, envelopes must be postmarked by December 31, 2012.

Tax credit donations may also be delivered to the Ajo district office at 111 N. Well Road by December 21, 2012.
